

Chris

Hi, My name is Chris and I am 13 years old. I am in the 6th grade and enjoy being at school, hanging out with my friends.

About Me:

I love to go camping and enjoy being outdoors exploring nature. I love pets and especially love gerbils. Going to the Zoo is always a favorite activity of mine because I like to check out all of the animals. When my friends and I hang out we like building things with legos, playing video games and playing with puppets. I would like to write and perform a puppet show soon. Playing video games is definitely my favorite hobby, and when I get older I want to design action video games. I like to eat all different kinds of food and am not a picky eater, although I think I could eat cereal at every meal. I like being around other children and have been told that I am very loveable and awesome!

My forever family:

I am legally free for adoption and am anxiously awaiting my forever family. I am in need of a family who is passionate and committed to understanding my unique needs and behavioral struggles. I am a very loveable, compassionate young man and need an experienced family that can dedicate a lot of time and energy to me. By the end of a school day my mind becomes very tired and I can become irritable, and frustrated, so will need a patient person to help me through times like these. I also need some help with my daily living needs and need reminders due to my memory loss. A stay at home parent who can provide me lots of supervision would be ideal.
